PERSONAL LETTER TO THE BOSS

Alton, New Hampshire

"The Switzerland of America"

Dear P. W.: Number 10, volume LIX of this day. I do not find it to be of great value or interest to me. I am a personal and private opinion, having nothing to do with the prosperity of your publication, you can overlook any thing that would otherwise be antagonistic to your cause.
"Remarks of the Loose Pulley" interesting. Such noises and lamentations might be of interest to others.
Your boss is the directing force in this case.
Note of the top line: "Ordinarily have a good deal of respect for you and their pocketbooks, but in the past both—E. W. Howe.
I have such respect, even in time of need. It would appear, to me, looking at it from my side of the road, that you are not. For, if they did, they would not be in such a state of affairs that war would be possible.
Special attention is given to two items of your appropriations: "Support of the poor" and of "Interest charges."
How your town managers ever given thought to the problem of avoiding interest charges? The payment of interest on loans is a sure sign of bad management.
Your "Snow breaking," "Repairs, Highways and bridges," "State Aid and "Norway Lake road" totals $1,000. It indicates that you think of such things, if not more, of providing excuses for departure from your town.
"Making it an object to stop awhile.
"Fire Department expenses" and "Pocket book" amounts to $2600.
And the "fire pumper note" for $1,000.
You have $3,600. How much has your town spent to incite individual proprietors, which is more effective than any fire department can be?
Your advertising is the best tribute possible. It is conclusive proof that the advertiser is considered O. K. Which fact, looking at it from a modern angle, is the wonderful. Age is no longer considered a detriment in the individual, freedom, and in almost everything. Even a man that has withstood the storms and stress of three hundred years is not considered worth preserving.
But what care you? Very soon you will be seeking the solitude of the distant shore; where the trout has its habitat, and where you can enjoy the peace and freedom that Nature intended for the enjoyment of the wise.
Mark Lem did not go far enough. He did not say about Rockefeller and the others. But—and here I give pause—the editor might (and probably would) kill anything that was adverse to the big advertisers.
What in the mood, come over and see us. It is a short run and the roads are good, or should be—we've spent millions on them. We have an extra bed, a furnace, and a disposition. Sincerely yours,
F. E. Mitchell.

PLAINLY, HONESTLY STATED

Prof. Mitchell's Review

I have read the story of a Country Town by E. W. Howe, and find it most depressing. The characters are fettered by ignorance, bigotry, poverty, neatness; their lives are without romance and their acts give no evidence of ability to see or appreciate the opportunities that are open, to a greater or less extent, to every person, whatever the conditions of birth or station.
"The philosopher of Bly" is pessimistic and not calculated to bring happiness to its possessor or his associates.
"If there is a moral to the story it escaped me."
The only thing in it which I care to preserve is the following: (If I have a hope of the future at all—I don't know that I have.
It is just that when the Creator is collecting the dead of the judgement, He will shed a tear on my grave, and, knowing my unhappy life, permit me to sleep on.) "This so nearly agrees with my own life and conclusions that I find something of somber beauty in it."
—F. E. Mitchell.

Peculiar Wedding Ring

Because the groom forgot the customary "hoop of gold," the key of a church in England was used as a wedding ring.

Nobility in Adversity

A noble heart, like the sun, showeth its greatest countenance in its lowest estate.—Sir P. Sidney.

Mitchell's Racy Paragraphs

Sage of Alton, N. H.

It is stated that Henry Ford's five-day advertising campaign cost him $1,300-000. Compare that with the hallooing of the ancient "medicine man" from the tail-end of a wagon. Some difference.
Regarding a sojourn in the Southwest:
The meat of the nut is this: Your trained eye could see and your mind would grasp the trend of what is happening in this country—bunching that are stupendous, of which the average New Englander has not the faintest conception. You would become so interested that your physical parts would respond to the mental stimulus, and you would be rejuvenated in mind and body. The suggestion was not made on impulse.
The place from which we view a thing has much to do with our conclusions.
I was trying to dig out a stone, had a bar under a corner of it, but it stuck. Tommy, then six years old was watching my futile attempts. Recently he said:
"Grampa, I think that if you take out this little stone," to which he pointed, the big one will come out easy." And it did. You see, he was looking from a different angle; he saw plainly what I could not see at all.

My recent visit in Massachusetts brought certain things to my notice that I could never have known had I remained in New Hampshire. There is a cause for every condition and event. People are now thinking. They no longer blindly accept what is told them. They walk around it so to speak, and look at it with a critical eye. There is a growing belief that a thing may be legal and yet not be right. There is a growing conviction that when Lincoln said this is a "government of the people, by the people, and for the people," he announced what can be in reality.

A laborer who has enjoyed short hours of labor and generous wages are not going back to old conditions. Well dressed content will not be jostled tamely.
It has been demonstrated that a strong and healthy demand gets more than a sickly wish.

A correspondent has sent me a clipping, from what newspaper was not stated. It concerns the philosophy of Mrs. Oleg Gabrilovitch (Clara Clemens) daughter of the late "Mark Twain." She is quoted as saying:
"I have been able to weave a combination of philosophy ideas supplemented by personal experience into a spear and breastplate that carry me safely through most battles with microbes and humans! I have learned to march, not crawl; to fly, not drag.
And if I have, anyone can. I am convinced that we can change ourselves. We all possess the spark of divine force which at our bidding creates health and joy. First of all harden your nerves. Forbid them to feel. Put them to sleep by a process of thought and keep them so.
Lose interest in training other people to do as you wish them to and place all interest in training yourself.
Keep the idea of serenity before your mind and hold tight to it. The wall of sensitive nerves that separates you from happiness will finally crumble away and it will be a far easier task to alter your nervous system than to make over all the people and things that irritate you.

Mark Twain was a joker. He had a jovial exterior and a serious mind. He looked at the world "as is." It seems that his daughter has evolved a philosophy superior to that of her father. It is no more than diplomatic self protection. In every community there is one or more persons who make it a rule to look strictly after their own peace of mind, who do not worry about the ills of other people.

I recall a family, four daughters and one son, that showed what can be done along this line. One daughter began at an early age to protect herself against hardship and annoyance. She would not wear shoes or clothing unless they suited her idea of style and beauty. She would not do work that would roughen her hands.
The mother gave in after a few struggles and "Pet" had what she wanted and did not do anything that was objectionable to her. She finally married a man that was wealthy, who died and left her an adequate income for life. She then married a man of fashion, took him to Europe and has supported him in luxury and idleness.
The other sisters and the brother have been just ordinary folks; have worked for all they had, reared children, paid taxes, sister makes shoes, son as books. She remained loyal to the country. The wealthy prefers to associate with European parasites.

Appointment a Precedent

The first negro to be appointed to a federal office, according to the Negro Year Book, was Ebenezer Don Carlos Bassett, who was appointed minister resident and consul general of the United States to Haiti by President Grant in 1869 and served until 1871.

Beginning the Day

Astronomers formerly began the day at noon, but recently it was decided to use the same day in astronomical work as is used in civil life, and commencing with 1925 all the national almanacs began the day at midnight.

Adopted From the Latin

The word "bible" is a translation of the Latin word "biblia," meaning "the same," and its use is to indicate that several quotations are from the author named above or incorporated in the same article, which has been previously named.

Source of Wealth Lost

Chestnut trees which covered Connecticut hillsides, once a source of income to the farmer, are all gone and with them went the native supply of poles for carrying telephone and telegraph wires.

Monk Originated Custom

The custom of counting the years from the birth of Christ was originated by Dionysius Exiguus, a learned monk of Rome, who lived in the early Sixth century.

sale as an antique the like of which you bought when first married, why, you're getting old.—Lorain (Ohio) Journal.

Long Australian River

The Australian "Father of Waters" is the River Murray, which, with its chief tributary, the Darling, flows 2,400 miles before reaching the Southern ocean.

Old Musical Instruments

It is probable that horns of cattle or sheep were the first musical instruments used by man. Drums probably were in use long before recorded history.

Norway Advertiser

Tell your friends of the news you read in it. If it's not so incorrectly stated, make a fuss over it—but read it. Also look through the Intelligence Column and advertising for bargains. See church notices, society gatherings, etc. Read the paper, even if you have to borrow a

Apprenticeship System

The custom of requiring a beginning worker to serve a period of preliminary training and learning before being permitted to follow his trade or craft reaches back at least as far as the Sixteenth century. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth it was enacted that no person should work at any trade without serving an apprenticeship of seven years.

Wheel Chair Kitchen Information

Tin grows dark with use. This tarnish protects the tin and should not be scoured off just for the sake of making the tin bright.

Serve hot foods hot and on hot plates.
Serve cold foods cold—not lukewarm. It is astonishing how many homemakers ignore this simple and obvious detail of an attractive meal.

Always grease an iron with lard or vaseline before putting it away for a long time, or it will rust. To remove rust on an iron, scour it with scouring powder, and rub with a flannel cloth.

Neufchatel and cream cheese are valuable for the protein, fat, phosphorus and calcium they contain. The American diet is said to be low in calcium. It is well, therefore, to remember that all cheeses supply calcium.

No meal should have an over-proportion of liquid, "mushy," or hard foods. With stews, serve crisp breads, or crackers; with a dish such as macaroni, use browned bread crumbs on top; with soft breads, serve a crisp salad.

A bread pudding will be "soggy and sad" if you use too large a proportion of bread to eggs. Or it may come from cooking at too high a temperature. It is much better to cook any custard-like pudding in a pan of water in the oven. The water keeps the eggs from being over-cooked.

Leather furniture coverings look better and last longer if they're rubbed occasionally with castor oil. This restores to the leather the oil that gradually dries out.
The oil should be well rubbed in and any excess wiped off the surface, or it will collect and hold dirt which will darken the leather, and soil whatever touches it.

To keep oxalic acid on hand for cleaning purposes, buy an ounce of the crystals, put them in a half-pint bottle of water, and pour off the top part of the solution to dilute as needed. All of the crystals will dissolve, but this method insures a strong solution. Label the bottle poison, of course, and keep it away from the children.

Lesson for March 18

JESUS TEACHES SINCERITY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:1-23. GOLDEN TEXT—Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying God and Our Parents.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Honoring God and Our Parents.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sincerity in Religion.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Denounces Formalism.

1. The Emptiness of Formal Worship (vv. 1-7).

The tendency of the human heart is to depart from the life and to choose the more formal which is calculated to express the life. The traditions and customs adopted by men for the temporary help of the spiritual life frequently are crystallized into laws and made to supersede the laws and institutions of God.

1. The charge against Christ (v. 2). This was that Christ's disciples ate bread with unwashed hands. The charge was not on the basis of physical uncleanliness, but their disregard of custom which was to engage in the thorough washing of the hands before eating, as well as washing the pots and vessels.

2. Examples of empty forms (vv. 2-4). (1) Washing of the hands before eating (v. 3). They not only washed their hands often but diligently and intensely.

(2) Washing of cups, tables, pots and brazen vessels. The ceremonial washing applied to the vessels as well as the hands.

3. Explanation demanded by the Pharisees (v. 5). They asked Christ to explain why His disciples ignored the tradition of the elders with reference to ceremonial cleansing.

4. Christ's answer (vv. 6, 7). He declared that worship which is rendered in forms was as empty and meaningless as was lip service where the heart was away from God. This He calls hypocrisy, even such as foretold by Isaiah, the prophet. Men of his day made much of external observance and of religious rites, while their hearts remained unchanged.

5. Making the Word of God of None Effect (vv. 8-13).

1. How it may be done (v. 8). It was done by punctiliously observing the precepts of man, such as washing of the hands, pots, etc., while ignoring the commandments of God. This is being done by those who make much of the externalities of religion but at the same time are indifferent to the moral requirements.

2. An instance cited (vv. 9-13).

The law of God as given by Moses said, "Honor thy father and thy mother, and whoso curseth father or mother, let him die the death: but ye say, If a man shall say to his father or mother, it is Corban, that is to say, a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me, he shall be free, and ye suffer him no more to do ought for his father or his mother." The law of God demands of children that they care and provide for parents in their need. According to an accepted tradition among the Jews, if a man should consecrate his goods or possessions to the Lord's service by pronouncing over them the word "Corban," which means "the gift," his goods would be thus dedicated to God, and would not be available for help to his parents. It was possible, therefore, for a man to be enjoying wealth while his parents were in destitution.

III. The Real Source of Defilement and Impurity (vv. 14-23).

1. Sin is moral and spiritual. Uncleanliness before God is not of the body save as the body is directed by the soul. A man is not defiled by that which enters his mouth but by that which springs out of his heart.

2. That which springs out of the heart—the deliberate choice of the will—is the source of defilement (v. 20).

3. A list of evils springing out of the heart (vv. 21, 22). The awful list is as follows:

Evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness, which all come from within. This catalogue includes every possible form of evil. Every one of them originate in the heart and when they become acts of the will and life they defile the man. It is only when temptations and solicitations lead to indulgence by the deliberate act of the will that they corrupt a man.

A STEP AHEAD IN STOREKEEPING—THE VISION OF TODAY

While we are proud of our new store, we prize most the old friends who have made the new store possible

Correctness in Style ~ Certainty in Value ~ Convenience in Shopping

—makes this store attractive to all

We are of sufficient size to enable us to specialize.

Each of our 38 departments is a store in itself, in charge of specialists who have no other duties than the management of their own departments. They are relieved of the thousand and one details—financial, clerical and otherwise—that enter into storekeeping—so they are able to give their entire time and energy to the particular line of merchandise they sell.

In addition, we have the advantage of our representation at all times in New York and in the great foreign markets. This keeps us in touch with the latest developments in style; with all that is new, desirable and distinctive; to show the new while it is new and to avail ourselves of any unusual values these markets may afford.

We are the largest distributors of merchandise of our character in Northern New England.

As far as the manufacturer is concerned, we occupy the same position in this section of the country as do the big stores in the larger cities. Manufacturers are anxious to place their merchandise where they believe they will get the largest volume of business, so they come to us first as a rule.

This gives us first choice and the opportunity to pick the best in practically every line of merchandise we sell. Often such lines are confined to us exclusively and are not to be found elsewhere in Portland.

Staple merchandise in which style is not a factor, we purchase in quantity in conjunction with other large stores in different sections of the country. This insures to our customers the lowest prices on this merchandise.

In the purchasing of merchandise where that undefinable something called style is of first importance, our experience teaches us that the tastes and ideas of our people are above the average. And we give this first consideration in our purchases of style merchandise.

All of these services to our customers form but a part of the vision of today in storekeeping.

Cooking School is Reviewed by One John Quill

After a four day session of the Journal Cooking School, Mrs. Davis, the teacher, has favored her time and, like the Arab, departed for his pasture green promising to return another year. It has been a wonderful success from start to finish and Augusta housewives who are noted the country over for their good cooking have been greatly benefited. The background band who has been the backbone of the school is the better part of the week a sort of a necessary enunciation are now coming out of their hiding places and once more sit at the family table. They have kept the home fires burning while the better halves have been learning just how to boil water without burning it on.

They say they can notice a vast improvement in the quality if not in the quantity of their daily ration meal when they strap their feet bag on for their noon day meal they miss without regrets those pound cake bouquets and those Portland cement tarts that have held the place of honor on the family table for years. The upper and lower crusts of the old family stand by, the pie, has undergone a wonderful change for the better. They show less signs of cooking and well seem so common in the ordinary pie and the mahogany dining table looks more like a filling station than it has for years and when he bites into a quarter section of good old home mince pie he feels that it is at peace with all mankind and with some women. Of course the transformation has been rather sudden but he is in hopes to get used to the new order of things and live up to it. The Christmases comes three weeks hence he thinks will strike his natural gait and baring any mishap he will be able to hit it up on high.

One husband who is a little pessimistic says too many women in this world expect their husbands to bring home the bacon and then fry it or them, but the good housewife who is never at a loss for the last word to say is frequently says the trouble is with the husband. That he is ever so humble there is nobody stays at home so in these few remarks one gets the positive side of a question that has caused more of less discussion around the family circle for years in fact the discussion has spread all several of our most prominent clubs with a national reputation have brought the question up at the meeting. Of course the ladies still stick to it that there is no grounds (coffee) for any remarks while the weaker sex the husband says that settles it. Let us hope the question will be settled without a referendum.

In searching through the alley way of my memory for data I call an incident that came to my notice some years ago a gentleman in town who had a congenial helpmate famed for her good works were up in the social world and above all things a most experienced cook. She had one failing but that was not her fault, "but misfortune." She was nearedighted. Her husband use to brag to all who would listen to him her good qualities. That was before the days of Radio when you could tune in and tune out when you got weary. One day a business friend came to town and the husband invited him to dinner on the way of clinching the invitation he told his friend what a wonderful gift in the culinary line his wife had and the guest was prepared for the time of his life. After the introduction and the usual preliminaries and they seated themselves around the table and commenced the onslaught. They had wandered through the menu down as far as dessert when the good wife brought in a roast chicken apple pie. One of the kind mother used to make. The guest was literally helped to a quarter section then the husband sank his fork into the pie, then an expression came over his face like a flat note on a parlor organ. He said, "Wife, what kind of a pie is this?"

"Wife said, 'Apple.' Husband said, 'I notice an old taste to it I was trying to identify.' Wife, a little nettled, said, 'If you must know, dear, it's just a common old fashioned apple pie same as we have had for years, one would think you never had seen an apple in all your life. The old taste, I give you a little vanilla I put in for flavoring.' Husband, a doubting Thomas, said, 'It don't taste like vanilla.' Wife's temper had reached the breaking point. She arose from the table, flew to the kitchen and returning a moment later and placing a small two ounce bottle on the table, said, 'This is the bottle. See for yourself.' Husband adjusted his glasses and read the good black letters 'Sweet Tincture Rhubarb.' A long pause, then hubby came back nobly and said, 'I have always understood that rhubarb was a drug in the market, but this time it's in the pie?'

Let us hope that flabby sleep that night was not interrupted by bad dreams or his wife did not talk in her sleep.

—JOHN QUILL, in Kennebec Journal.

Signing the Constitution

Bancroft, the historian, says that "Eleven of the thirteen state delegations signed the proposed Constitution. Since the two other delegations had previously left the convention, the signing was unanimous. All perhaps had grave doubts about one feature or provision or another, but they had bullied them down, they knew, and they all had the courage to sign the concrete result of their arduous work."

Man and Mystery

The wonderful thing about man is the way he builds his life on mystery, draws his inspirations out of mystery, hopes where he does not know, dreams where he cannot prove. Knowledge is no more than an island here and there, which lifts itself a little way above the waves while the great ocean of mystery round about laps all the shores of thought.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Important Human Food

Rice is a genus of grasses of which the only important species is the common rice, one of the most useful and extensively cultivated grains, supplying the principal food of one-half of the human race. It seems to have been originally a native of the East Indies, but has spread to all quarters of the globe, wherever the conditions of warmth and moisture are suitable.

Peculiar Glass Drop

Prince Rupert's drop is a kind of glass drop with a fine tail, made by dropping melted glass into water, and remarkable for the property (due to internal strain) of bursting into fragments when the surface is scratched or the tail broken. It is so called from Prince Rupert, nephew of Charles I, who first brought the drops to England.

Short Story

There was once a man who had a mania for traveling, and to such an extent that he could not agree with anyone else. One day he went on a trip to the South Seas, and was shipwrecked off an unknown coast. He fell in with a group of cannibals—and he agreed with them.—Kansas City Times.

PROBLEM FACING COUNTY

The County will no doubt be forced to build these bridges on which hearings are pending and the overfright may be increased still further. The propositions such as the cement bridge at Hiram and the Morse's Bridge and nine other bridges is the beginning of a wholesale bridge building in Ramford.

The survey of bridges made by Mr. Jose in Ramford shows that at the present time there are 11 bridges in Ramford that need immediate and in some cases constant attention.

These 11 bridges include the foot bridge and Morse's bridge and the total estimated cost of the 11 bridges is placed at over half a million dollars, $535,000.00 being the estimated estimate.

Following is the estimated cost of the bridges deemed necessary in Ramford:

Peterson Bridge, S. E. of Ramford	$14,000.00
Concord River Bridge	30,000.00
Ylly Bridge, Abbott's Mills	16,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 1 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	13,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 3 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	10,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 4 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 5 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 6 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 7 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 8 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 9 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 10 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Ylly Bridge, 11 1/2 miles E. of Ramford	8,000.00
Total	$535,000.00

These are some of the bridge building problems that face the County Commissioners and tax payers.

Mrs. Davies and son accompanied the body here and prayers were held at the cemetery.

Mrs. Horace Millett is at home with the mumps.

Crows have made their appearance for north as Millettville and their musical voice sounds cheerful. At least it is a reminder that spring is nearly here and almost time to tap maple trees and enjoy the "hot biscuit and maple syrup".

BUSINESS CONDITIONS
Business conditions for the first two months of 1928 in territory served by Central Maine Power Company appear to be at least normal, with a tendency toward increased production according to the February operating report of the Co. compiled recently. During this period two new industries, a shoe factory at Skowhegan and a novelty mill at South Paris, were put on the lines, two more were negotiating for locations and 15 established industries increased their production facilities through increased power load.

Particular significance may be attached to this report due to the fact that some of the basic and important industries of Maine are represented in the territory in which this company operates.

Electricity is becoming so widely used that the demand for electric power is an excellent barometer of business and general buying by merchants over the same period appeared to be less than normal which after all seems to reflect a healthy policy to cut down on stocks and increase turnover.

TAXES AND WHO SHALL PAY THEM

Mr. Editor: I was very much interested in reading the pitiful tale that brother Cummings had in your paper also I see that Mr. Mitchell thinks he knows the place and people of whom brother Cummings spoke? Just why that poor hard working man's taxes should be abated any more than some others, I cannot see. He is a big healthy able bodied man with only five children and that aged father more than pays his keep with hard labor every day.

We could not help wondering if brother Cummings knew the Gusto with which that family received a lot of whole clean bedding, (not new) but clean and whole, just after he was burned out. He was so pleased that he took that and sold it, whether the money went for something to eat or to pay an installment on an old auto, I cannot say. Another kind friend donated some footwear for one of the children that has to walk a mile and a half or more to school very recently and the child's footwear on one foot was entirely gone on the bottom, and they were pleased with that favor. The mother declared the child should not have the footwear as it was large enough for her. No doubt they would thank the town of Greenwood in the same fashion for help. I feel sorry for the children and think something should be done, but for the hard working man, I've not an ounce of pity.

Why our brother Cummings should take up for him, I do not know, unless he owes him for a second hand car and he wanted to get his pay so as to clean up his 1925 taxes in Woodstock, we would be pleased to hear from Mr. Cummings as to how he would strike a responsive chord in someone and he will get as good an answer as Mr. Dunham sent him, which I thought was right to the point.

—One interested.

Elmer E. Baker of Fryeburg, will be a candidate for County Commissioner, on the Republican ticket. His announcement is in this paper.
